New Backup Generator Ensures Uptime

Beginning soon, R. L. Laughlin & Company will have the dedicated use of a backup power generator; all that remains is are the final connections. Once operational, the generator will ensure that RLLCO's main office will remain fully operational even in the case of lengthy power outages in the surrounding area.

RLLCO Matching Prices on Meter Runs

The Fab Shop would like the industry to know that RLLCO will match any competitor's pricing on custom meter runs. For years, RLLCO's Fab Shop has been building, transporting, and installing tailor-made meter runs from its dedicated fabrication facility. From raw tubing, we can cut, weld, hone, mic, and test your custom meter runs so they meet or exceed AGA specifications (14.3 1985 edition). All completed tubing is subjected to ultrasonic testing, then cleaned and painted. To request a quote on your project, contact John Starcher at 304-201-2559.

Founder Ron Laughlin Retiring

R. L. Laughlin & Co. is announcing the retirement of Ron Laughlin from daily operations. For forty years, Mr. Laughlin has taken a daily role in all activities at the company. The past three years, he has been counseling, teaching, and overseeing the placement of a new management team for the future. This accomplished, he will be retiring immediately and passing all responsibility to David Canterbury, Vice President and General Manager.

New Team Members

R. L. Laughlin & Co., Inc. is an American-owned company.

Kenny Yoder   Dave Tremba   Chad Zimmerman   Matt Buckner

Over the last two months, RLLCO has made several new hires in its Field Services division. Kenny, Dave, and Chad join us as field technicians, doubling the number of team members available for work in Ohio and Pennsylvania. They are all trained and certified to perform meter installations, repairs, tests, and calibrations, as well as gas analysis, dew point testing, and sample collection.

Matt Buckner has come alongside Curtis Roberts in the Meter Shop, bringing his expertise to the organization of shipping and receiving as well as parts inventory.

Paula McKown

Paula McKown is also a new member of our team, and joins us as an integrator operator.
